Germans Call Off Rail Strike in Ruhr

FEAR OF HUNGER, COAL BLOCKADE BREAK DEFIADE

BULLETIN

(BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

PARIS, Feb. 2.—Germany posted the white flag yesterday in signing relations with the reparations commission, with this it broke, as well as with the French and Belgian governments, on January 13. In a note delivered to the commissioners, the German government protests that the old system of payment, which was put into effect on January 26, is beyond Germany's power to pay and it asks a new inquiry to demand nation's capacity to pay.

MEN RESUME WORK

DUESSELDORF, Feb. 2.—The calling off of the railroad strike by the German authorities and obedience by the railroad men to a request of authorities that they resume work on all lines where they would not come in contact with armed French troops were the outstanding developments today in the events of the day, that was regarded by observers as having brought about a great improvement in the French position in the Ruhr and the Rhineland.

A majority of the railroad workers in both regions adopted the suggestion of the authorities that they resume their jobs. Complete stoppage of all exports of coal since May 1st, the miners have forced eight hours, together with the extension of similar restrictions on shipments of benzol, tar and all other mine by-products and coal products, gave considerable advantage to the French.

GERMAN HANDLING FOOD

In addition the French have taken over the handling of food train consignments to the regions traversed by the railroads, where strikes still are in effect and also directed the opening of the Kiel Canal and the Rhine at sufficient coal for the needs of local populations and industries.

The complete cessation of coal production in the mines and inability of the French to send by rail into France any coal for the reparations account were the developments in the situation favoring Germany in her policy of resistance.

In assuming charge of feeding of the civilian population in the Ruhr where the railway strike continues, the French moved three trains into the region, each manned by French crews, assigned to Essen, Dortmund and Gelsenkirchen. French bags began the return of coal through Ruhrort and down the Rhine to Dusseldorf to supply the needs of citizens and industries.

STRIKE ON AT MAYENCE

The resumption of work on the railroads is complete at Cologne, Coblenz, Treves and Ludwigshafen and partially complete on the Ruhr front, where those encircling the industrial basin. While the French are operating, at Mayence the strike is in full swing owing to the French refusal to obey an ultimatum of the railway men that they release strikers under arrest or for sabotage.

The mining operations today reached the lowest level. An endeavor to solve the situation caused by shortage in empty cans instructions have been issued.

FUNDING PLAN COMPLETED

Commission Concludes Details of Payments in Conference With British Ambassador

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The plan for funding Great Britain's war debts to the United States was completed late today by final action of the American Debt Commission in conference with Sir George Giddeon, the British Ambassador. Announcement was made that details of the plan were made public, that the draft would receive executive approval and transmitted to Congress.

Conformity with previous arrangements, the plan contemplates extinguishment of the debt in forty-two years with interest at 3 per cent for the first ten years from December 1, 1928, and 3½ per cent thereafter with a fixed schedule of annual amortization payments, estimating an average of 1 per cent of the principal.

Annual installments are to begin with a payment of $12,500,000 this year, but the government is given the right to make the annual payments over three-year periods instead of twelve months. The total of the annual payments payments of principal or interest may seem advisable.

The proposed settlement must have the approval both of the Senate and the Congress. It is to be noted that the rate of interest is lower and the term longer than that fixed by the statute creating the commission. It is extremely desirable that a settlement should promptly be made on the plan outlined for the following reasons:

First, in fairness to Great Britain, England is the only country which has come forward with a proposition looking to an immediate settlement of debt incurred to the country of the Empire. Also, it is the only country of Europe which is providing for current expenditures by taxation. In order to do this it has been necessary for her to impose a burden of taxation heavier than any of the leading nations have imposed in time of peace. A strong sense of pride causes us to want to meet all her obligations. In this connection it must be said that while the debts of the various nations of Europe to us should not be cancelled, a generous policy should be adopted toward them.

It may be recognized that all of our allies in the late war made sacrifices far in excess of those suffered by the United States, however great our own may have been.

NORMAL INTEREST RATE

"Second, as a practical matter the rates of interest, although they are now prevailing, are not lower than in normal times. The average rate of return on English consols for not more than fifty years prior to 1914, was less than 7 per cent. The rate reached during the war was 2 per cent in 1917 and was less than 3 per cent until 1918. There is every reason to believe that, notwithstanding the unfavorable signal created by the vast amount of national debt and the new resources by which we have been endowed, a marked decrease in interest rates in the next ten years.

Third, there is a financial advantage which can hardly be measured which accrues to the people of the United States in case rates of interest become more favorable to our debtors.

This would mean greatly increased purchases from us especially in cotton and meats and all the varied products of agriculture. The right to taxation in any country will seriously diminish its purchasing power and fertility of industry.

In conclusion, it is scarcely conceivable that the stabilizing effect in finance and trade which a settlement of the debt would accomplish. Quite as important as anything else which could be prompted by a settlement of debt, which, as long as they remain unliquidated, are sure to promote controversy and ill feeling.

A conciliatory mood is being shown by the Allies and the various governments appear to be optimistic tonight that the peace protocol will eventually be signed.

CLOTHES LINE IS USED AS AERIAL

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) PANAMA (Feb. 2)—Unperturbed because he had no aerial for his radio receiving set, Rue Strom, 12 years of age, of Ash Grove, last night used his mother's clothes line in constructing one and used hay baling wire for ground circuit. Shortly afterwards he was in touch with Schenectady, N. Y., and Davenport, Iowa.

ENTENTE NOW ONLY VENEER

French railroad officials functioning in the territory are doing so they simply told the German railroad administration it would be expected to operate coal trains in the Cologne territory with Germans just as they had previously. It had the desired effect.

The British do not want the French officiating in any way in the negotiations and for the moment the British are not inclined to draw their troops back. Consequently it will take more careful maneuvering to keep Entente intact.

DIFFICULT SITUATION

The Turkish situation is entirely different. The Entente is based to a great extent upon the agreement of the Allies in 1914 that none would sign a separate peace with any belligerent. War still openly proclaims its intention of making a separate peace with the Turks.

Consequently, to use Marquis of Lansdowne's words, "there is even chance whether England will savor a course further away from the continent that she chose when the French went into the Rub.

TURKS STILL HOLD OFF

(BY C. L. E. AND ASSOCIATE PRESS) LAUSANNE, Feb. 2.—A list of some thirty points on which the Turks differ from the Allies was sent to the Allies today by the Turks in connection with the peace treaty which the powers are seeking to conclude. The Angora delegates to the Near East conference failed to reach an agreement to accept the terms of the Allied draft treaty under which foreign magistrates would sit with Turkish magistrates in trials involving foreigners, steadfastly maintaining that this violates their sovereign rights.

The question of joint control of foreign ports in Turkey, foremost among the thirty points, was considered by the Allied jurists and an answer probably will be handed to them later tomorrow. The Turks are uncompromisingly maintaining that this will seriously diminish its purchasing power and fertility of industry.

TO SEARCH GRAVE FOR TREASURES

Czar's Jewels Are Hidden in the United States, is Belief

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Authentic was given here today to open the grave of James Jones, which is believed to contain $3,000,000 worth of jewels of the late Czar of Russia and his family. The jewels are supposed to have been smuggled into this country in Jones's coffin, which was aboard the Army transport Edelweiss, arriving at New York in September, 1920. Immediate exhumation is expected.

No sooner had this news been uttered than Senator Heflin precipitated another by attacking Senator Connelley, Democrat, Mississippi, New York, for intimating that the Czar's jewels had been removed by the "bandit sharks" of Wall Street.

After Senator Heflin had been called to order for this remark, Senator Connelley got off the floor and charged that Heflin had "dotted" the record overnight and had modified statements which he had made indicating on the people of the Senate that the Czar's jewels were in the possession of the underworld.

Senator Heflin had changed the record with regard to statements he had made concerning Chief Justice Taft's visit to England last summer, with which he asserted that Justice Taft was indicating that Justice Heflin represented Wall Street. Senator Heflin denied that he intended to convey such an impression.

No sooner had this row been ended than Senator Heflin precipitated another by attacking Senator Connelley, Democrat, Mississippi, New York, for voting for the Vice-President's ruling.

He declared Connelley "a Progressive" as he passed over the speaker's desk, and right up under the whiskers of the Senator of Mississippi (Senator Lodge)."

POURS OIL ON WATERS

Senator Connelley promptly rejected this attack and raised another point of order against Senator Heflin's conduct. Senator Johnson, Republican, California, and Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, and other Progressives went to the defense of Senator Connelley, and after a short debate controverted Senator Underwood. Senator Underwood, Alabama, Democratic leader, poured oil on the troubled waters by moving to expunge Heflin's remarks from the records from the records. The Senate adjourned Underwood's motion and left as匆忙 to the dispute.

While this was going on in the Senate the House also engaged in a sharp row over a date commission. Representative George W. Murray, of Wyoming, Republican leader, denied that the date commission had exceeded its authority and pointed out that no action could be binding until it received the President's signature. Senator Mundell predicted that the recommendations of the President would be reasonable that the house would accept them almost automatically.

DOUGLAS RESIDENT DIES

(DOUGLAS, ILL.) Feb. 2.—G. M. McDonald, a resident of Douglas since the foundation of the city and a member of the Odd Fellows here, died in this city at the age of 84. He had been a member of the Odd Fellows for forty years. He was Justice of the peace here from 1890 to 1908.

FIRE HORSE MAKES LAST RUN MONDAY

Chicago Event Will Draw Officials as Motorization is Completed

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—Monday will mark the passing of the last horse-drawn fire engine in Chicago, and plans are being made to celebrate the event in a spectacular manner.

The horses were conducted under supervision of Lieutenant C. E. Smith, chief of the police force and R. G. Ruby, Washington chief of revenue agents. In two instances the agents raided four homes simultaneously within one city block.

As a retired Kentucky colonel at a recent ball, Asher was introduced to several amateur bootleggers as an agent preparing to ship considerable whisky here from Kentucky. The bootleggers were arrested today.

Completed was the agent's guidance that while returning to position he had been overtaken by a team of horses and driven into a wall, baby crib, piano, phonographs and chicken coop. In one home more than ten gallons of whisky had been found tucked away behind the wall moldings in various rooms.

One woman was reported by Asher to be selling liquor in baby milk nursing bottles and police confiscated more than a dozen such packages, well filled, from her home.

ELECTRIC SPARK BELIEVED CAUSE OF DISASTER IN MASSACHUSETTS

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE:

SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) Feb. 2.—

While the investigation to determine the cause of the explosion at the purifying plant of the Springfield Gas Light Company yesterday afternoon, which caused a gas leak and damage is still under way, it is now believed that the explosion was caused by a spark from an electric elevator in the center of the building.

The investigation has indicated that the workers were turning off valve is one of the purifiers when had been leaking when one exploded.

Officers are waiting the results of an investigation by Capt. Walter R. Weitzel, expert on explosions of the State

Police. His work in the plant, who escaped serious injury, said that water in one of the filter boxes had become dangerously low and that frantic efforts were being made to raise the supply and get into the filter the time of the explosion.

Just how extensive the damage caused by the explosion will not be determined for some time in the opinion of experts who point out that the foundations of many structures near the plant may have been weakened. Estimates of the damage will total approximately $100,000.

Replacements damage is estimated at about $1,000,000.

COLORADO PACT GOES FORWARD

May be Put Squarely Up to Arizonans

Opposition Disapproves Dilatory Methods

Senate Bridge at Blythe to be Advocated

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

PHOENIX, Feb. 2.—There is probability that the Colorado Senate will bring square before both houses of the Legislature on Monday for acceptance of the compact.

Those who escaped death say they were struck from behind. The man in all cases appears to have been robbed. In all instances the assassins were ransacked thoroughly.

The latest of these mysterious night attacks has given the city a new flavor. A small ax was left at the establishment of Luigi Vitellaro when he was working.

Mrs. Vitellaro was injured and her husband died a few days later.

Police are attempting to trace this ax to the dealer from whom it was bought.

Merchants in the residential districts arm themselves after dark and many of them have shut their houses until the ax man, and in no case did the theft exceed $100.

DELAY IS OPPOSED

Several members of the committee have stated their intention to hold a meeting during the coming week to consider the proposed dilatory acts and resolutions that have followed the compact advocating the compact.

Opposition to the compact is based on the promise of early introduction of a bill looking toward building of an interstate bridge across Colorado River at Blythe.

The compact, however, does not mention the bridge.

RECIPE CONTEST RESULTS

Culinary Experts Have Hard Time Selecting Three Winners; More Than 2500 Take Part

During the past week the culinary experts selected by The Times to judge the recipes submitted in the first contest, which was for soups and appetizers, have carefully examined and tested the 2500 recipes that were submitted for these dishes. The three appearing below were adjudged the best after a series of kitchen tests. Their originality and practicability for use here are worthy of note.

FIRST PRIZE

Miss Lillian Kuster, 1827 Elm Avenue, Long Beach, is the winner of the first prize of $10 with a recipe for

CALIFORNIA OLIVE NEST

Cut three olives in half and take out seeds. Then stuff two halves with cottage cheese mixed with green onion tops, chopped fine and bacon bits, salt and pepper. Then two olive halves with yellow cream cheese, grated, mixed with pimentos and mayonnaise. Then stuff two halves with cream cheese very soft, mixed with chopped English walnuts and French dressing. Lay lettuce leaf on plate, make nest of chopped pimento, then take three sandwich strips of bacon and cross them like spikes in a wheel and place  $\frac{1}{2}$  olive between each strip, alternating the different colors. Makes a very attractive as well as appetizing dish.

SECOND PRIZE

The winner of the second prize of $7.50 is Mrs. Albert Schleim Arroyo Grande, Cal. She was awarded this prize for a very delicious

FRUIT SOUILLON

Peel three apples and core. Add to them one-half cupful seeded raisins, six chopped apricots, one-half cupful of shelled walnuts, over one pint of boiling water and let simmer over the fire for forty minutes. Remove from the fire and add  $\frac{1}{2}$  cupful of orange liqueur,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cupful of fruit juice, the juice of two oranges and one lemon, one pint of water. Chill and pour into long-stemmed glasses, top one cupful of sugar and with a teaspoon dip into the chilled fruit bouillon. Serve with graham wafers.

TOMATO BASKET APPETIZER

This shows fine sense of taste and great originality. Sealed small, smooth, firm tomatoes, one for each person. Cut one-half inch from the handle half way down the center of the stem and cut crosswise on both sides to the handle. Scoop out bottom of basket in four sections. Remove pulp under the handle. Fill first section with layered mixture of egg, the second with chopped egg whites covered with caviar, the third with the yolks of eggs raw, the fourth with crab meat minced and serve on lettuce leaves, adding a little mayonnaise.

Ice Cream Now Must be Given Serious Thought

The next time you eat a plate of ice cream reflect on this astounding fact: The fruit of the daily labors of 360,000 men goes to no other country than the ice cream industry of Southern California.

Not only that, but the total milk produced every day by 2000 cows is used for the same purpose. Southern California's ice-cream manufacturers ship more than 2000 pounds of milk a day with a roll of $70,000. Over 500 automobiles are used to haul milk and cream from the famous dairy herds of San Joaquin Valley and other northern points.

Among the incidentals furnished to the ice-cream manufacturers by other Southern California industries are 600 pounds of cream sugar and 4000 pounds every month of fruits, nuts and similar edibles used in the manufacture of the frozen dairy.

What is this difference in bread you talk so much about?

IT'S the same difference that makes one cup of coffee better than another—one can of preserves better than a second—QUALITY.

The character of the materials that enter into any product determine, in a large measure, its goodness. We could make a loaf of bread for far less than it costs us to make HOLSUM—and you'd know it in five minutes.

But we choose to make HOLSUM the best. To that end we use the finest short patent flour, purest kettle rendered lard, fresh yeast, pure whole milk, refined crystal salt and pure granulated sugar. These laboratory tested ingredients are processed and baked according to the most scientific methods. Thus we know that HOLSUM quality never varies. The goodness you find in one loaf you'll find in every loaf.

HOLSUM quickly shows the difference—prove it to yourself today. Don't say bread—say HOLSUM.

POLICE PLAN TO BAR SOLICITORS

Swarm Near Motor Vehicle Department

Hector Auto Owners on Way to Get License

Become So Annoying Officers Are Called

An investigation started yesterday by Capt. Richard Hill, assistant chief of the Police Department, may result today in the driving off of a band of individuals who under pretense of soliciting subscriptions for various magazines have been the recipients of a shower of dollars from callers at the Motor Vehicle Department at 1829 South Flower street.

Investigation had the hordes of solicitors and agents of various contractions become by noon yesterday that an appeal was made to Hill to have the officers on duty there by some of the victims. Agents selling auto accessories, appliances, and novelties were among those forthwith by the police but the magazine solicitors presented a more serious problem.

Capt. Hill declared when results of the investigations were made to him that steps would be taken immediately to clear away the rabble.

REPORT TO BE ASKED

Licence Inspector McPherson will be asked to make a report upon the state of the situation as it affects his department. Capt. Hill asserted, and a squad of detectives will be sent to the scene where hundreds of people who gather there each day to obtain new license plates for their machines.

Judge Friedman, chief deputy city attorney, said in his opinion that a number of the ordinances might be invoked to remedy the situation.

Three weeks ago, Traffic Officer Fred F. Hill, in his efforts to curb the activities of the solicitors in their efforts to obtain subscriptions to their periodicals, had been investigated by him. When reports of their activities had become too numerous, he had driven the whole gang away.

Almost immediately, he asserted, they reappeared, this time with an order from Capt. Adams of the University station, backed by Capt. Hill.

CROWD GROWS

Yesterday, attracted by the hundreds of persons gathering to apply for licenses, a number of newcomers appeared and at noon the crowd of three or four had multiplied to ten or twelve.

Capt. Hill was asked, he said, if solicitors for reputable motor magazines might not solicit subscriptions at the offices of the Motor Vehicle Department. He was unable to give a permit, but ordered that no one be allowed to solicit as the methods used did not bring upon city ordinances the right to be allowed to work.

One man handed over $2 and received a cent and a receipt. The number of years the magazine was to be received was not stated: the solicitor's name was not signed upon it and when the first issue was to be mailed was not stated. At once, he said, and if reports bear out the tale made to him yesterday, his original order will be rescinded.

Twenty members of the two crews were deployed along the east side of Flower street between Sixteenth and Eighteenth streets.

A cheap metal-plated pencil or a brightly colored map was used to attract the attention of the good-natured victim. By the same process of reasoning, the solicitor picked upon poorly dressed persons.

FAST WORKERS

Once stopped, the gullible appearing one was grabbed by the hand, the pencil or the map snatched out of it and he was immediately enveloped in a haze of words.

At the same time there was much business of writing down the victim's name, his address, bank account and car driving number of motor and classification.

The inference was that the "capper" was an outside employee of the Motor Vehicle Department, engaged in his task to secure a signature blank.

This information down upon the printed slip, the officious one glibly told his listener.

"All you pay for is the stamp. That is but the initial. You are sent to you twice a week. Eight cents a month is all you pay. They are sent right from the office here with all the maps and other information. You merely pay the carrying charge. Ninety-six cents a year."

So entranced was the victim by

STREET BARRIER BAN ASKED

Enforcement of Law Against Dumping Building Material in Thoroughfares Requested

Adding that the City Council rigidly enforces the ordinance prohibiting the dumping of building materials in the streets of the general downtown section, the executive committee of the Los Angeles Traffic Commission, at its regular weekly meeting yesterday at the Union League Club, ordered a letter sent to the Council citing a number of specific cases where the law, it is asserted, is being violated.

A special committee of the commission, of which E. E. East was chairman, has been making an investigation and reported that in front of a band of individuals who under pretense of soliciting subscriptions for various magazines have been the recipients of a shower of dollars from callers at the Motor Vehicle Department at 1829 South Flower street.

Investigation had the hordes of solicitors and agents of various contractions become by noon yesterday that an appeal was made to Hill to have the officers on duty there by some of the victims. Agents selling auto accessories, appliances, and novelties were among those forthwith by the police but the magazine solicitors presented a more serious problem.

Capt. Hill declared when results of the investigations were made to him that he stepped out and took the law into his own hands; classes the 15th inst. The third, for meat and meat sauces will then begin and continue two weeks.

or they are the victims of circumstance is something for every man to decide in his own mind as additional evidence comes in and the situation develops.

WHAT'S THE IDEA

Naturally the whole situation is viewed with more or less skepticism at first. But with good friends on two boxes commissions who are determined that he shall be safeguarded against serious competition, or are the members of these commissions opposed to his methods? Can any more big purpose? These questions can best be answered by the class of men he is permitted to meet, most of whom do not fight at all.

ROAST WILLARD

Supplementing these claims, or interwoven with them was a well organized campaign directed against Willard. This propaganda consisted mainly of exaggerating his weight and under-rating his actual condition. Tex Rickard, especially pictured as hot, fat and those who have seen him in recent months know this to be wholly untrue; if not maliciously misstated. One might think that the entire future boxing career of Willard being kept out of the ring with Dempsey. Never before has such a complete career been shown for an opponent of the champion. If these figures are to be so soft why are Dempsey's other supporters so sternly vigilant to prevent the match?

Whatever one's personal opinion as to Willard's chances is neither the point nor the purpose of this article, which is merely to arrive, if possible, at the results for the present situation, and perhaps forecast what will follow.

PICK ON BECKETT

Apparently he has harrowed down to Dempsey being booked up for two engagements, his opponents to the latter about to be Matty Beckett and Joe Beckett.

Now, for a bit of dissecting. Mention of Wills is in this blanket program, is but a blind. Under the program, Dempsey would meet most of Beckett, which recalls disquieting rumors heard about two months ago, and which have continued rather periodically. According to these, Beckett had laid the trap for Beckett to this country for a fight with Dempsey, and that the men would fight for a huge purse. In fact, charges of this plot, and it is little less than a plot, came from Willard's camp. That was when Dempsey was completing his vassalage tour, and Willard was hot on his trail. The thing of trying to put the hopeless Beckett and his opponent for Dempsey seemed to those who heard of them to be desireable if impossible. But they were advised to wait and watch.

And apparently this watching and waiting has been in vain. That very thing is contemplated. That which was regarded as impossible is to be attempted, and may succeed unless smashed while yet young. Never, probably, in the history of boxing has such an insect been offered to public intelligence.

LOOKS BAD
All others have been eliminated on one pretext or another. In the wake of this, to have matched Beckett outright and alone with Dempsey, would have been too raw even for the trusting patrons of heavyweight hippodromes.

But by hooking Beckett up with Wills in a blanket arrangement, some of the hedge is removed. This is so the audience can not cleverly execute. It came too soon after the story of the tip from Albany that a Wills-Dempsey match was not desired in New York. Said that story was false and sheet propagation of Dempsey and Wills will not meet.

But the thing can be carried up to a certain point, all the publicity being woven around Dempsey and prospective fight with Beckett, then the Wills-Bill affair dropped because of official opposition.

Then it will be impossible to slip across that Beckett is more unblushing. This much at least has been reflected glory by having it always been linked up with the one with Wills, and the rest of it will consist of playing up its international nature, as was done with Carpenter.

This is speculation, but wait and watch.

All together now boys—Raw! Raw!

Nelson Holds Workout for Monday's Tilt

George Nelson, the Salt Lake grappler, who meets Ad Santel, light-heavyweight wrestler at the Southern Auditorium next Monday night, put in a stiff workout at the Union League Club gym yesterday. The Salt Lake man demonstrated to the wrestling fans that he had gathered up a handlock that will give Daniel considerable trouble when they get together on the mat. He also showed speed galore in his practice encounters with his trainer.

Promoter Kenneth Orr announced last night that Johnny Meyers, world's champion middle-weight grappler, will arrive in Los Angeles in ample time to prepare for his match with Nelson in the other section of the double main event wrestling bill at the Harmonic Auditorium.

Riflemen from Santa Barbara, Santa Paula, Ventura, Long Beach, Pasadena and Los Angeles met at the State rifle range of Glendale for the first match of the 1922 season.

The 500-yard slow-fire match and the rapid-fire match were handily won by Mr. Amy, who was shooting under the colors of the Los Angeles Rifle and Revolver Club. The twenty-shot off hand match at 200 yards was a hard fought one. La of Santa Barbara finally won by the Crocodiles, count from the Lam Dizer of Los Angeles, both scoring 91x100.

In the small-bore match at 200 yards, Los Angeles and Cutting of the Crocodiles were tied at 100.

Prizes were awarded to the first seven places of each event as follows:

YACHTSMEN IN CONFAB NEXT WEEK

Sailing Schedule Will be Adopted at Annual Powwow of Southland Body

Lair of Santa Barbara is First in Offhand

Riflemen from Santa Barbara, Santa Paula, Ventura, Long Beach, Pasadena and Los Angeles met at the State rifle range of Glendale for the first match of the 1922 season.

The 500-yard slow-fire match and the rapid-fire match were handily won by Mr. Amy, who was shooting under the colors of the Los Angeles Rifle and Revolver Club. The twenty-shot off hand match at 200 yards was a hard fought one. La of Santa Barbara finally won by the Crocodiles, count from the Lam Dizer of Los Angeles, both scoring 91x100.

In the small-bore match at 200 yards, Los Angeles and Cutting of the Crocodiles were tied at 100.

Prizes were awarded to the first seven places of each event as follows:

500 yards, 1st, Mr. Amy, 2d, Mr. Glenda; 2d, Mr. Anderson; 3d, Los Angeles; 4th, Pasadena; 5th, Los Angeles; 6th, Santa Barbara; 7th, Mr. Glenda; 8th, Mr. Glenda; 9th, Mr. Glenda; 10th, Mr. Glenda; 11th, Mr. Glenda; 12th, Mr. Glenda; 13th, Mr. Glenda; 14th, Mr. Glenda; 15th, Mr. Glenda; 16th, Mr. Glenda; 17th, Mr. Glenda; 18th, Mr. Glenda; 19th, Mr. Glenda; 20th, Mr. Glenda; 21st, Mr. Glenda; 22nd, Mr. Glenda; 23rd, Mr. Glenda; 24th, Mr. Glenda; 25th, Mr. Glenda; 26th, Mr. Glenda; 27th, Mr. Glenda; 28th, Mr. Glenda; 29th, Mr. Glenda; 30th, Mr. Glenda; 31st, Mr. Glenda; 32nd, Mr. Glenda; 33rd, Mr. Glenda; 34th, Mr. Glenda; 35th, Mr. Glenda; 36th, Mr. Glenda; 37th, Mr. Glenda; 38th, Mr. Glenda; 39th, Mr. Glenda; 40th, Mr. Glenda; 41st, Mr. Glenda; 42nd, Mr. Glenda; 43rd, Mr. Glenda; 44th, Mr. Glenda; 45th, Mr. Glenda; 46th, Mr. Glenda; 47th, Mr. Glenda; 48th, Mr. Glenda; 49th, Mr. Glenda; 50th, Mr. Glenda; 51st, Mr. Glenda; 52nd, Mr. Glenda; 53rd, Mr. Glenda; 54th, Mr. Glenda; 55th, Mr. Glenda; 56th, Mr. Glenda; 57th, Mr. Glenda; 58th, Mr. Glenda; 59th, Mr. Glenda; 60th, Mr. Glenda; 61st, Mr. Glenda; 62nd, Mr. Glenda; 63rd, Mr. Glenda; 64th, Mr. Glenda; 65th, Mr. Glenda

FAVORITE IN SOUTHLAND

Mary Frances Hopkins is raping a favorite in the entertainment of the ladies and families of Radicland, because of her charming execution of the classical composition "Song of Smoke."

A voice which listeners have heard on a multitude of the radio shows, she has won the favor of his tenor interpretations of "Madame Butterfly," "Song of Smoke," "Goodnight," was as appreciated by the grown-ups as it was by the kiddies. Her recitation was one of Marshall

Steadman's compositions.

recitation was one of Marshall

Steadman's compositions.

William H. Travis, corner soloist, added materially to the wealth of music provided in the final program by contributing a group of 47 folk songs, all selected and arranged with six solos to the able piano accompaniment of Mrs. Earle Jenny. Her rare coloring and superb interpretative ability has been endorsed by numerous critics, and she has been heard in Vienna, New York, Baltimore, Tokio and Yokohama.

Henry Cantor, dramatic tenor, from the opening to the close of the program, held the attention of the audience, a coloring and charm in his interpretations holding the attention of the ladies and families of Radicland.

Mildred McGrath,
soprano, whose sweet and sympathetic quality, plus remarkable clearness of tone, this evening won a host of admirers last night, has added to those who have been won over by his tenor interpretations.

Gladys Terrell, soprano, accompanied by Claire Forbes Crane, will sing "Visi d'arte," "Visi d'amore," "Carnevale," by Puccini; "Ah, Love But a Day," by Beach, and "Life," by Curran. Harold Shugard, tenor, accompanied by Claire Forbes Crane, will sing selected solos. Claire Forbes Crane will play selected numbers. Bedtime story.

MADE A START
Gov. Richardson has demonstrated that it can be done. Now it is to be determined whether the Assembly will support his efforts or seek to nullify them.

FIRST PRINCIPLES
Some of the fighters against dope want to go right to headquarters. They insist that the raising of poppy seeds be stopped.
This is in line with the demand that the murdering habit be checked by shutting off the manufacture of pistols. It sounds good, anyhow.

THE MAGIC TOUCH
This city is headquarters for magicians and they have a local organization that includes in its membership some of the great set wizards that ever palmed a card. Some time when they are together they might try to extract a new City Hall out of Mayor Cryer's plug hat.

TABLE TALK
According to the drift of dispatches from overseas our "observers" at Allied or international conferences are gradually becoming "spokesmen." Day by day in every way they are growing talkier and talkier.
First thing we know we will be sitting in the game drawing cards—and possibly bidding.

THE FIRE ALARM
We buried up over $500,000,000 worth of property in this country last year. There are buildings in Europe five or six hundred years old, but in America we manage to burn them all down in the first century.
We do not erect them for permanence in the first place. Even a structure fifty years old is something of a curiosity with us.

ANOTHER LANDMARK GONE!
Out where the West begins a boundary long ago was set to the kingdom of the tail-silk hat. Therefore we cannot grieve at the news that the upper must go as painfully as may London or New York. But we cannot help wondering what the conqueror of the future will do for a receptacle from which to produce rabbits and omelets and numberless colored cardboard boxes as he dig in the good old days.

KICKERS
From Atlantic City, where a lot of dealers in feminine apparel have been in conclave, comes announcement that kickers are to be generally worn this coming spring and summer. "Already they are appearing at southern resorts," the dispatch adds. Thus, after only a few years, the styles set by California bikers and mountain climbers appear to have reached even the East and are to be brought back to us as "the latest from New York."

IS THIS LOGICAL?
Foreigners who come to the United States and make fortunes here are common occurrences. But for a poor American to go to a foreign land to find a fortune is a rare phenomenon. Yet that is what Harry Thornton, a young New England engineer, did years ago. And today he is at the head of the British railway system, is wealthy, has been naturalized and knighted by the King. Ought he to be condemned for thus renouncing his own country? Many in his own State have derided his act. The point would be a nice one for a high-school debate.

CRAMPED QUARTERS
We have not only loaded our own jails beyond the Filmore mark, but we have been filling up the jails of the counties roundabout with our excess burglars and bootleggers. Now word comes from Riverside that thirteen cells are vacant in the jail there and might be available for some of our surplus criminals. Accordingly, we will send our neighbor a choice shipment of home-brewers to fill the existing vacancy. Every little helps. Some day we will have a massive new jail of our own with rooms and bunks for 2000 guests. Then we can return the favor.

CONCERNING POETS
An artist's club in New York publishes a bitter indictment of the American public by the poets who are numbered among its members. These accuse the lowly populace of being utterly devoid of appreciation of the higher things of life, especially poetry, lavishing their money on movies, prize fights and baseball. They compare the salaries drawn by followers of these professions with the emoluments of a poet who hope to receive and draw some unpleasant deductions against the state of modern civilization.

While it is true that a poet with a plentiful pocketbook is almost as rare as a hen with a full set of teeth, the mistake they make is in blaming modern society for this pathetic state of affairs. Since Homer first smote his lyre in the long ago the history of poets has been one of a losing battle with hunger and poverty. Some of the choicer poems that have come singing down through the ages were written while the writer was in a state of semi-delirium because of the cries of an outraged and empty stomach. While a few sweet singers were born to wealth or had it thrust upon them by an artistic king, for the most part poetry, like virtue, is its own reward.

THREE DICTATORS
Just at the time when we were beginning to believe that our civilization had reached a point where peoples would be governed by laws and ideas rather than by individuals, that the age of autocracy had passed, a trio of dictators has appeared at the head of three great nations. Russia, it is Lenin; Italy, it is Mussolini; Turkey, it is Mustapha Kemal.

There have been dictators in Europe before; an Alexander, a Caesar, a Napoleon, a Bismarck; but never did three of them rise to such eminence in a single generation. Faced by this phenomenon the question logically arises, are these men truly the ruling spirits of their epoch, have they created the conditions that enabled them to rise to supreme authority; or are they simply the symbols of national impasse—the product of the times?

Is Lenin responsible for the Red Terror that rules in Russia under the name of Communism or is Communism responsible for Lenin? Has Mustapha Kemal caused Turkey to rise from the humiliation of defeat in the World War and threaten anew the peace of Europe or is he only the product of a nationalist movement that awakened in a new generation of Moslems the old lust for power? Did Mussolini awaken in the breast of the middle class in Italy a patriotic impulse to protect itself and Italy from the terror known as Bolshevism or did he only lead a movement to save Latin civilization from the tragic fate of Greece culture and industry?

In other terms, must we regard these three men as causes or effects?

Carlyle would see in each a cause. He wrote in his "Heroes and Hero Worship."
"For me universal history, the history of that which man has accomplished to the present time in the world, is in reality, only the history of great men . . . . They were the conductors of the crowd, these giants; they were the models, the exemplary types and, in a larger sense, the creators of all that the general mass of men have attempted to realize here below."

But Carlyle, with all his genius, was at times intolerant and dogmatic. He saw mankind as individuals and not in the mass. His confusion of causes and effects, especially in his "French Revolution," is at times ludicrous. He was like one who, seeing the breakers rise in swirling foam, would believe that they drew the sea after them.

Those who think deeper realize the truth of the maxim "Behind the wave is the ocean" and they find its application in the rise of these three dictators overseas. A series of dramatic events in which Lenin himself had no part were necessary to make it possible for him to secure the Russian dictatorship. Had Russia been successful in her 1918 campaign against Germany neither Lenin nor Trotsky would have received an opportunity to rise. The seeds of anarchy had been planted a generation before; they were simply unscrupulous enough and astute enough to provide a medium for the expression of envy and hate of the rich and to cater to the thirst for equality in the breasts of the peasants and industrial workers.

Kemal became the leader of a fanatical group of young Turks; but he was not responsible for their fanaticism. If it were not he it would have been another. He is but a wave borne forward by the surging tide of Mohammedanism. The Turks would not be less cruel nor less ignorant if Kemal had never lived.

Mussolini is but the symbol of the reaction in the rest of Europe, especially in the Latin countries, against Bolshevism.
The destruction of the middle class in Russia gave the bourgeoisie of the rest of Europe a foretaste of what they might expect if Communism extended beyond the Russian borders. This class armed in Italy for self-preservation. When the Socialist government began adopting soviet policies the Italian middle class organized and armed themselves. Mussolini had won their admiration by his courageous opposition to radicalism and they chose him as their chief, after pledging him not to attempt the overthrow of the Italian monarchy. If there had been no Bolshevik government in Russia Mussolini would probably be a comparatively unknown member of the Italian Socialist party.

One who studies the reaction of those three peoples since the war is apt to reach the conclusion that, in each instance, it was the events that made the men. People, in the last analysis, are self-governing, even under dictators. Each of these dictators is a hardy adventurer for whom a happy accident cleared the path to power. The peoples cannot be absolved from any responsibility for excesses committed by their governments; for these men are but symbols of the ruling passions of the populace.

CHICAGO WAKES UP
Major Thompson of Chicago is through.
Another Hearst protege has reached the end of the trail. Faced by a hostile electorate as primary day approached, the Mayor threw up the sponge. One day last week the Cook county grand jury brought a blanket indictment against thirty persons, several of whom were prominent in the Hearst-Thompson machine. That night the Major dictated from his office in the City Hall a statement to the public announcing that he would neither be a candidate in the Republican Mayoralty primary nor run as an independent.

For eight years Mayor Thompson ruled as a political boss in Chicago and in the State of Illinois. They have been eight years of clover for machine politicians and of disappointment for the friends of good government. During that time all former records for crimes of violence in the city of Chicago were broken. Taxes about doubled; building activities were retarded for a time, almost to the vanishing point; murder gangs boasted of police immunity and there were occasional exposures of graft on a scale that shocked and shamed the whole nation.

During the war period there were more expressions of pro-German sentiment in Chicago than even in Milwaukee. Draft evasions were notorious. The Mayor frequently refused to receive commissions representing our allies. It was intimated that their presence in Chicago would lead to rioting.

One by one the early supporters of Thompson fell away until, during recent months, the Hearst newspapers were about his only official sponsor. So bad did conditions become that a citizens' committee for the suppression of crime was organized. The machine accused its members of political hostility. Each of them graft exposes brought into the spotlight some henchman of the Thompson machine.

Now the eight-year period is ended. The candidate favored by the citizens' committee for Mayor is expected to receive the nomination without opposition. The Hearst-Thompson forces are too disorganized even to put up a fight. Aroused public opinion has taken the government of Chicago out of the hands of the machine. Despite its great foreign-born population, the Queen City of the lakes has not lost its American-ness.

Strange that persons on the brink of the abyss always wish for such puerile things.
In this case the youth of the sufferer and the years of pain that had cheated her out of the usual round of amusements of American girlhood offer a reason for the wish.
But older people of wider experience generally express a craving for equally absurd experiences or possessions when they know for a certainty that their earthly days are numbered. Wardens of prisons tell us that condemned men usually choose an elaborate dinner and breakfast just before their executions, when the normal person would suppose that they would have no appetite at all. Many sober souls have been started on careers of great frivolity after having been informed that they had an appointment with St. Peter in the near future.

Rendered wiser by the experiences of the last eight years, they will know how to consolidate the positions they have won in America, at least, "you cannot fool all the people all the time."

A PRACTICAL COUNT
A Chicago maritime agent whose wife helps the family income out by selling corsets has inherited a title and an estate in Italy and he and partner wife are going back there to be a real count and a real countess—for three months. Then they are coming back to America to stay, they say, to resume their former jobs and for memories of Mr. and Mrs.

There's a lot of good hard business sense about that couple, even if there isn't much romance. To foreign counts coming to this country to look for brides, "estates" and "ancestral acres" are mighty fine assets, from a sentimental point of view. But to one who already is married and whose wife is herself an asset instead of a liability they are merely crave more violence for rich food and festive times. How often one hears people remark, "If I knew I were not going to live I'd stop saving money and have a good time." It is very fortunate for our heirs that we live in ignorance of the date of our departure from this mundane sphere.

NOW A CURIOUSITY
"Snow on Mt. Lowe. Go up today; enjoy it while you may!" poetically outburst the enthusiastic advertising department of the Pacific Electric Thursday morning. That was the way Southern California's freak snowstorm was taken everywhere. Everybody made the most of it. For when snow does fall anywhere in this region it is such a rare spectacle that it is as if a great comet had fallen—folks are eager to travel many miles to see the marvel.

RIPPLING RHYMES
COLD WEATHER

How I hate to journey forth on these bitter winter morns! For the wind is from the North and has bells upon it; with that wind I have a tiff and it hangs me so wet and stiff, and I soon am frozen stiff from my whiskers to my corns. In the he-men sort of tales we are always being told there is pep in arctic gales, there is stimulant in cold; where the blizzards fiercely skirl till they rend your limbs from limb, you are filled with snap and vim and with vigor manifold. Let the cold face the storm, then bold red-blooded I feel best when I am warmest;
when I'm snugly in the hay; let the hero, minus fears, face the blizzard that uprises;
I have frozen both my ears and I found it didn't pay. I have frozen both my feet when I toiled upon the farm, and I say that warmth is sweet and that cold has little charm; let me sit before the fire with my dachshund and my lyre, while the he-men admire such comfort with alarm.

Let the bold, heroic souls tread the snowy arctic waste while the bitter tempest rolls o'er the land in frantic fury; let them struggle with despair, combing icicles from their hair, but a padded easy chair is more strictly to my taste.

WALT MASON.

THIS IS THE DAY

Horace Greeley, world-famous journalist, was born at Amherst, N. H., in the year 1811, the son of a poor farmer. Horace received but a scant education at the village public school and at the age of 15 was apprenticed to a printer.
He became the most influential editor in America and in 1851 founded the New York Tribune. In 1872 he ran for the Presidency against Gen. Grant and was defeated overwhelmingly.

President Wilson broke diplomatic relations with Germany and denounced German Ambassador Bern-hardi's pages in the year 1911.

MEN IN THE NEWS

BY RANDOLPH LEIGH

A Searcher After Genius and What He Found Along the Way.

Prof. Lewis M. Terman of Stanford University, who was a teacher in the State Normal School here up to 1914, is at last under way in a work which promises to have a far-reaching effect on educational methods—especially in California.

His studies of genius, which already rank him along with Galton, Grosset, Lombroso and De Candolle, have been extended until today to the human race as a whole. Prof. Terman's researches in this field of 1900 students —with a view to a better understanding of genius in the making.

Indeed, it is because he has specialized in detecting genius in its budding stage, rather than after it has come to full fruit and has passed into history, that his work is of such tremendous importance.

Altogether he has worked at this problem of detecting and watching the growth of genius for more than twenty years. That he has recognized authority is shown by his selection to serve as one of the five psychologists chosen to review the army mental tests for use in schools.

Genius is not unnatural.
Genius is largely a small product.

The average age for the son of a brilliant child is 25 at the time of birth and for the mother 31.

When they are young these stupid boys may be compared in size and in the mind of girls; in six out of ten cases
"geniuses" among school children will be a boy.

Lombroso, who approached the study of genius as an expert in criminology, regarded it as largely a phase of insanity. To him the great fact was that the great men of history were not necessarily brighter than the average, but had greater force of character and energy.

Terman, realizing that the problem of democracy is not one of upholding genius but of upholding the mass of the people, initiated the movement which passed on the research will be continued by the use of the method of selection.

The easiest and best way to detect genius is by using the early ratings in the intelligence test.

It is worth nothing that the average age of the sons of pupils tested as far back as 1902 has been followed up as far as possible. The earliest rating for high ability is 14.

It is also interesting to note that the mothers of the geniuses tested as far back as 1902 have been followed up as

DOLPH LEIGH
He was largely responsible for the researches conducted by Stanford University in 1913 in the schools of San Francisco to measure the unfoldment of the mentality of the most brilliant pupils in that system. He was also the prime mover in the first reading program which started early in 1913 and which is now being carried on in the schools of California.

The results of the experiments, which will be made public sometime during this year, the exact date depending on the speed with which the data can be brought together and classified, will undoubtedly be closely watched by parents and teachers in this State and throughout the nation.

He has already gathered interesting data on genius in making many of his findings bearing contrary to general opinion. For instance, his experiments with hundreds of brilliant children have shown that:

Genius is not accompanied by a defective nervous system.

The brilliant child is not underweight.

Genius is not unusual.

Genius is largely a small brain product.

The average age for the father of a brilliant child is 35 at the time of its birth and for the mother 31.

When they are young (however) boys may be by comparison larger than girls; but as they grow up those careers have justified the early ratings for high mentality.

Aids from the interest which will be taken in the first announcement of the results of the tests on 1000 pupils all over the State is another factor in this undertaking which will be of importance. The pupils are to be followed along until they are 18 years old.

A subscription is the easiest and best way to secure this by using the "Book of Knowledge" which costs 10 cents a copy by writing to the Playgoers Revue or by calling at the Times main or branch offices.

disappointed parlor girls—who would have magnificently presented the United States to an English battleship building at a time when the navy needed everything except money. Long after the man who initiated the movement will have passed on the research will continue to the end that society can become more and more expert in detecting and utilizing its brilliant members—herefore too often overlooked or even spurned upon.

Here, then, a new era begins.

Reading and conserving brains—the only commodity in which no one has in every age and class shown herself stingy.

Admiral Sims calls it, still living. Their voice has been somewhat silenced by the overwhelming sentiment against them—but they think along the same old line. They continue to fumble with the formulas of the past. They can see far beyond the now of the battleship. They have a glimmer of an idea—a glimmer—that our forefathers were to be reckoned with, to be sure. But they do not fully realize how seriously the battleship is menaced from above and below. They will cling to a staking battleship while ingloriously providing the navy with the modern weapons that are sending them to the bottom of the sea—the same weapons which most surely defeat our foes.

Reviewing the situation, there seems to be no reason, political or technical, for destroying a war to be commendable as that of the Washington conference. European rambles should not distract us so much as to force us from a determined purpose to advocate the ratification of these treaties.

ALL WORK INSPIRED
Hesey hunters are trailing Dr. Fodick, a Baptist minister preaching in a Presbyterian pulpit in New York, for rejecting the fine great doctrine of Christianity—the virtuous life, the instruction of Scriptures, the statement of Jesus and Christ's second coming. Dr. Fodick says that on behalf of a larger church in which people of all beliefs may work and worship he would not require him to do these things. And yet the Bible is inspired, just as all works and all writing are inspired by the impulse which prompts them. There is a little inspiration in everything we do, and more, if it is well done. We don't have any doubts about inspiration.—(Capper's Weekly).

I want to tell you of a man who is bold and brave and strong. No burden is too heavy for his shoulders broad. A wrong will stir his soul to fury, because by a determined will—And "William" he was christened—but we know him as "Big Bill."

He honest, gray eyes meet you with a kind and something good. ("The man who is most square with Bill respects it all his days!) He's quick to help a friend in need, who's sliding down life's hill. Perhaps that is one reason why his nickname is "Big Bill."

Six feet of honest mankind, his shining, coal-black hair, and with his feet, his kind makes friends everywhere. The hard school of adversity toughened him—but still, Those whom he loves would give or loan a million times him!"

What's the picture today? In the query uppermost in the minds of thousands of men and women of all ages who are following "Playgoers Revue," the publication of sharing in the competition of $5000 in cash prizes at stake.

He has already gathered interesting data on genius in making many of his findings bearing contrary to general opinion. For instance, his experiments with hundreds of brilliant children have shown that:

Genius is not accompanied by a defective nervous system.

The brilliant child is not underweight.

Genius is largely a small brain product.

When they are young (however) boys may be by comparison larger than girls; but as they grow up those careers have justified the early ratings for high mentality.

Aids from the interest which will be taken in the first announcement of the results of the tests on 1000 pupils all over the State is another factor in this undertaking which will be of importance. The pupils are to be followed along until they are 18 years old.

A subscription is the easiest and best way to secure this by using the "Book of Knowledge" which costs 10 cents a copy by writing to the Playgoers Revue or by calling at the Times main or branch offices.

disappointed parlor girls—who would have magnificently presented the United States to an English battleship building at a time when the navy needed everything except money. Long after the man who initiated the movement will have passed on the research will continue to the end that society can become more and more expert in detecting and utilizing its brilliant members—herefore too often overlooked or even spurned upon.

Admiral Sims calls it, still living. Their voice has been somewhat silenced by the overwhelming sentiment against them—but they think along the same old line. They continue to fumble with the formulas of the past. They can see far beyond the now of the battleship. They have a glimmer of an idea—a glimmer—that our forefathers were to be reckoned with, to be sure. But they do not fully realize how seriously the battleship is menaced from above and below. They will cling to a staking battleship while ingloriously providing the navy with the modern weapons that are sending them to the bottom of the sea—the same weapons which most surely defeat our foes.

Reviewing the situation, there seems to be no reason, political or technical, for destroying a war to be commendable as that of the Washington conference. European rambles should not distract us so much as to force us from a determined purpose to advocate the ratification of these treaties.

Hesey hunters are trailing Dr. Fodick, a Baptist minister preaching in a Presbyterian pulpit in New York, for rejecting the fine great doctrine of Christianity—the virtuous life, the instruction of Scriptures, the statement of Jesus and Christ's second coming. Dr. Fodick says that on behalf of a larger church in which people of all beliefs may work and worship he would not require him to do these things. And yet the Bible is inspired, just as all works and all writing are inspired by the impulse which prompts them. There is a little inspiration in everything we do, and more, if it is well done. We don't have any doubts about inspiration.—(Capper's Weekly).

I want to tell you of a man who is bold and brave and strong. No burden is too heavy for his shoulders broad. A wrong will stir his soul to fury, because by a determined will—And "William" he was christened—but we know him as "Big Bill."

He honest, gray eyes meet you with a kind and something good. ("The man who is most square with Bill respects it all his days!) He's quick to help a friend in need, who's sliding down life's hill. Perhaps that is one reason why his nickname is "Big Bill."

FUN FROM THE PRESS—A Laughing Hit!

The strange tribe of Veddahs, in Ceylon, have no sense of humor. Wit, banter, or slapstick is a total loss. The funniest antics evoke no visible response. When visiting them, comedians always buy a round trip ticket: "They are glum as funeral mutes."

But happily the rest of humanity likes to laugh. Laughter is the safety valve for depressed spirits. So every week The Literary Digest gathers the cream of the world's humor that you may enjoy a laugh-fest. The cleverest of the terse, tart, and timely patter of newspaper jokesmiths is presented on the screens in hundreds of motion-picture theaters throughout the country. The funniest of the current stories and anecdotes make laughter a relief. Watch for "Fun From the Press" at your local theater. It's new every week. See one and, if you're not a Veddah, you'll become a fan. "Fun From the Press" Produced by The Literary Digest. Distributed by W. W. Hodkinson Corporation.

FEAR FOR MAN'S SAFETY

Dental Student Began Search for Supposed Automobile Thieves and Has Not Been Seen Since

Fears that Lambert Goode, a dental student at the University of Southern California, had met with foul play, were expressed yesterday by Detective Sergeant Bartley, who was assigned to search for him after his disappearance had been reported by Mrs. C. P. Heaton of 526 Beacon street, with whom he roomed.

Final examinations were being held at the university yesterday, and it was believed Goode would have attended them if it had been physically possible for him to do so.

Goode left the Heaton house, armed with an automatic pistol, about 10 p.m., Thursday, to investigate a report that three men had been seen around Mrs. Heaton's automobile. He did not return. Investigation showed that the automobile had not been tampered with, and there were no signs of a struggle near it.

Goode was 26 years old and came here from Nanaimo, B. C., his father, Collector of Customs for the Canadian government. Relatives from Lankershim aided Detective Bartley in his search and inquiry. The young man might have been taken, but they found no trace of him.

The police think Goode may have got into a scuffle with the three men, or the country bumpkin was so badly hurt that the men decided to take him with them.

GOODE COURT TO HEAR WIFE'S SUIT

A change of venue to Fresno was granted yesterday in the separate maintenance suit of Mrs. Gladys M. Blanchard against Frederick Nelson Blanchard. Mrs. Blanchard asks $250 monthly alimony and a compensation plan that she appears to have agreed to. She also asks $600 a month for her real estate man, and controls $60,000 of community property.

Blanchard smashed her violin one day while she was playing it, spanked her and called her names, she declared in her complaint.

Two May Die
as Result of Hcist Collapse

Three carpenters were hurt, two so seriously they may die, when a hoist they were building at the intersection of Seventh and Myers streets collapsed yesterday.

The carpenter who fell from the top of the hoist, a distance of about seventy-five feet, was taken to Veterans Hospital in a critical condition. Warren West, age 25, of Buena Park, was also hurt from a severe shock and suffered injuries to his spine, and Jack Roger, 32, of 228-A North Broadway, was severely cut and hurt, but will recover. Both West and Roger were treated at the Receiving Hospital by Dr. Schatzman.

The men were working on a building being erected by the Davidson Construction Company of 2284 East Main Street.

Convention Delegates Visit
Catalina Island

New Officers Introduced to Association Members

Annual Banquet is Held at Country Club

Officers who will direct the affairs of the Associated General Contractors during the coming year, were introduced to the association yesterday in Glendale Hall by the retiring president, Arthur S.
Bank of Los Angeles.

John W. Cowper, president of the Cowper Company of Milwaukee, N. Y., was elected president of the organization. The vice-president-at-large will be A. F.
Greenmeader, who is secretary of the Froin-Cotton Construction Company of St. Louis.

J. H. Wilson of the Winona Dunn Company, Minneapolis, was elected vice-president.

DIRECTORS NAMED

Nine new directors were elected, as follows: J. C. Edwards of the Williams Shipyards Construction Company, Los Angeles; George Watson of the Watson Company, Dallas;
T. F. Baker of the Codding Engineering Company of Milwaukee; W. F. Ladd of the Festus Cushman Associates of Fort-Worth; Frederick Ward of Burbank; T. W. Saund of Salt Lake;
D. B. Fedges of the Fedges Construction Company, Minneapolis; and Nat Malouff of the Gatlin & Co., Portland, Or.

Yesterday marked the actual close of the Associated General Contractors' national convention.
Today the delegates will go aughorward to Catalina Island, and tomorrow the majority of them will be homeward bound.

Yesterday's session of the convention was largely taken up by the reports of the various committees, and with the introduction of the new officers.

Last night the annual banquet of the organization was held at the Los Angeles Country Club.

Questions of the most vital importance to the country at large were discussed during the convention.

Among the industries of the world, the construction industry ranks second, giving place only to agriculture.

During the afternoon, John W.
Cowan, president of the association, addressed the convention. He sketched rapidly the present situation which confronts the building industry, pointing out the grave shortage, from the nation-wide shortage, from the disqualification of American youth to fears of the future of the industry. The sermon in the service will be by Rev. C. H.
Beddington.

CONSIDERS GRAFT CHARGES

He also took up the subject of the graft charges which have been made by the government of the United States against several of the most prominent men in the construction industry.

A resolution dealing with the graft charges and indictments was adopted in the course of the afternoon. It declares that the indictments are to discredit the construction industry as a whole.

He also spoke of the construction industry as a whole.

ARCHDEACON PORTIN

Rev. William MacCormack D.D., dean of St. Paul's Pre-Cathedral, Archdeacon of Boston, D.D. of Winona, one of the leading divines of the domestic church, will be the speaker tomorrow morning at the Scottish Methodist Auditorium. The sermon in the service will be by Rev. C. H.
Beddington.

THIRTY-NINTH ANNIVERSARY

The thirteenth anniversary of the founding of the Wilshire Boulevard Methodist Church will be appropriately celebrated tomorrow by Rev. H.
Howard Fagan, the pastor, and his congregation. Special musical program and other features will mark both morning and evening services. The evening program will be in the English language.

LAUDER INSPIRED HAYWOOD

Harry Lauder's message of peace and good-will given before the City Club of Victoria will provide inspiration for a sermon to be preached by Dr. Benjamin S. Haywood tomorrow morning at the Wilshire Methodist Church in the evening Dr. Haywood will discuss the cause of the Christian Endeavor Societies of the church in commemoration of the anniversary of the founding of that organization.

VICTORY POST GUEST

ALL EX-SERVICE MEN HERE ARE INVITED TO GREET COMMANDER

Members of American Legion Victory Post No. 54 were completing arrangements yesterday for an elaborate Los Angeles reception for Seth Millington, State commander, Monday evening at Victory Post headquarters, 227½ South Hill street.

LeRoy Dawson, commander of Victory Post, has announced that the meeting will be open to all ex-service men in the city and that special invitations have been extended to the other American Legion Post in Los Angeles. It is expected State Commander Millington will attend in detail the program of activities of the American Legion in California for this year.

In view of the fact that the meeting at Victory Post will mark the only occasion on which Commander Millington will officially attend the meetings of the various chapters here, it is expected the reception will be largely attended by Los Angeles ex-service men.

Soldier in American Army Is Nationalized

Frederick Lane, a resident of Tulsa, who has the honorable record of thirty years as a soldier in the United States Army, and who produced eight honorable discharges at the naturalization hearing held yesterday by U. S. District Judge Trippet, was admitted as an American citizen. He has been a subject of Great Britain. His term of service covered all of the principal forte in the Western country.
He was a member of the command of Gen. Crook, who chased Geronimo through the mountain of Arizona and New Mexico. Judge Trippet said he would speak at the church next Monday evening.

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 3.—Lynching of an innocent Negro suspect who had been held in Colton, at midnight last night, was prevented when officers arrived another negro who it is said, admitted the crime.

The lynching was planned Colton citizens, it is said, have the notion of frightening Negroes. After all, they are the ones who are frightened. Mrs. Alberta, an expectant mother, that she is in a serious condition and may die. When Sheriff submitted John Henry Bright, a Negro, to justice, he was wounded by Deputy Sheriff Bright in an orange grove near Redlands Junction. He had an automatic pistol in his hand when the officer shot him.

CHAINED TO COT

The wounded negro was brought to San Bernardino, where he remained to get out in a word that in which Mrs. Alberta was victimized, is lying.

It is charged Bright entered Alberta's home, a mile from where Alberta's home, an expectant mother, that she is in a serious condition and may die. When Sheriff submitted John Henry Bright, a Negro, to justice, he was wounded by Deputy Sheriff Bright in an orange grove near Redlands Junction. He had an automatic pistol in his hand when the officer shot him.

PROFESSOR EXCITED

The crimes caused excitement throughout the high hills in Colton, and led to a search for the killer and led to jail. For raiding the place of rated were made. Late this afternoon J. Van Lennan, a Negro professor, of Redlands, informed the police, who he had discovered the description of man wanted and notified the police.

W. A. Sharp.

The killer and the woman discovered themselves in the strange grove and called him to surrender. He raised his weapon and drew his right shot him.

He did not shoot Bright. On the other hand, he admitted his robbery and admitted he was serving time in Arizona.

DISGRUNTLED

Los Angeles, Feb. 3.—John Jennings, who died early in January, left his entire estate to his son, the effect of his death and that his son would be unable to maintain cabin to cut down expenses when Mr. Jennings moved and took the roof off his own home where he preferred to live alone.

CONTEST FORESTORED

Just before the aged man's nephew secured his first legal advice, he was summoned the following day.

A point which is often contested over will is the question of the length of the friendship between the testator and his son, who declared the two to be close.

For his son, he frequently had his son's name on the title of his home, and his son's name on his will.
